Print Media Proposal for FreshSpin Laundry Hub

A flyer and poster campaign built to bring new customers through the door.

1 Introduction

FreshSpin Laundry Hub already delivers clean, reliable service to the neighborhood — this proposal is about making sure more of that neighborhood knows it. I'm offering a focused print-media design package: one A4 flyer and one 8.5 × 11" promotional poster, built as a single visual campaign around the Fresh Start Promo — 20% off the first three loads. The goal is simple: stop people mid-step, explain the deal in seconds, and give them an easy reason to walk in.

2 The Deliverables — Flyer & Poster

Built for hand-outs, counters, and community boards where people can read a little longer. It leads with the brand, then the promo, then the benefit, then the call to action — followed by the service list and contact details, so it can do the job of a mini brochure.

- ✓ Logo, tagline & full contact block
- ✓ Services, promo offer & call-to-action
- ✓ Fine-print terms for transparency

Built for walls, windows, and sari-sari store boards — spaces where people glance for a few seconds while walking by. A single large "20% OFF" focal point and a short headline carry the whole message, so the promo lands before the reader even slows down.

- ✓ One dominant visual focal point
- ✓ Minimal copy, maximum readability
- ✓ Same brand system as the flyer

3 Why Print Media Matters Here

FreshSpin's customers are largely neighbors within walking or tricycle distance — the exact audience print reaches best. A flyer taped by the counter or a poster in a nearby sari-sari store gets seen every day by the same people, without competing for attention against a phone feed.

- ✓ Builds local visibility right where customers already pass by
- ✓ Reaches residents who don't regularly see online ads
- ✓ Placed strategically — barangay halls, dorms, tricycle stops
- ✓ Gives customers something physical to hold onto and act on
- ✓ Reinforces brand recognition every time it's seen
- ✓ Sparks word-of-mouth — flyers get shared, posters get pointed at

"I'd welcome the chance to bring this campaign to life for FreshSpin Laundry Hub and help turn first-time visitors into regulars. Happy to walk through the designs whenever suits you."
